

ODE TO WALL

Will you be my pick you upper on my down days,
Will you challenge my mind and leave me amazed,
Will you be my friend when my heart is lonely,
Will you be honest with me, so that I can trust you knowingly.

Will you always try to extend to me all of myself, my open mind, my listening ears and tender heart above all else,
Will you be my confidant when I need to confide, Because right now it's these four walls and no one else keeping all my secrets that Id normally hide.

Will you be my reason to wake me up with a smile, Here's to friendship, theirs yours and mine and keep in mind,
that us crossing paths is one of a kind.
I'm only writing to you wall because this is the beginning to the future
the end to the past and the middle of the present
